PhD-Built Arc

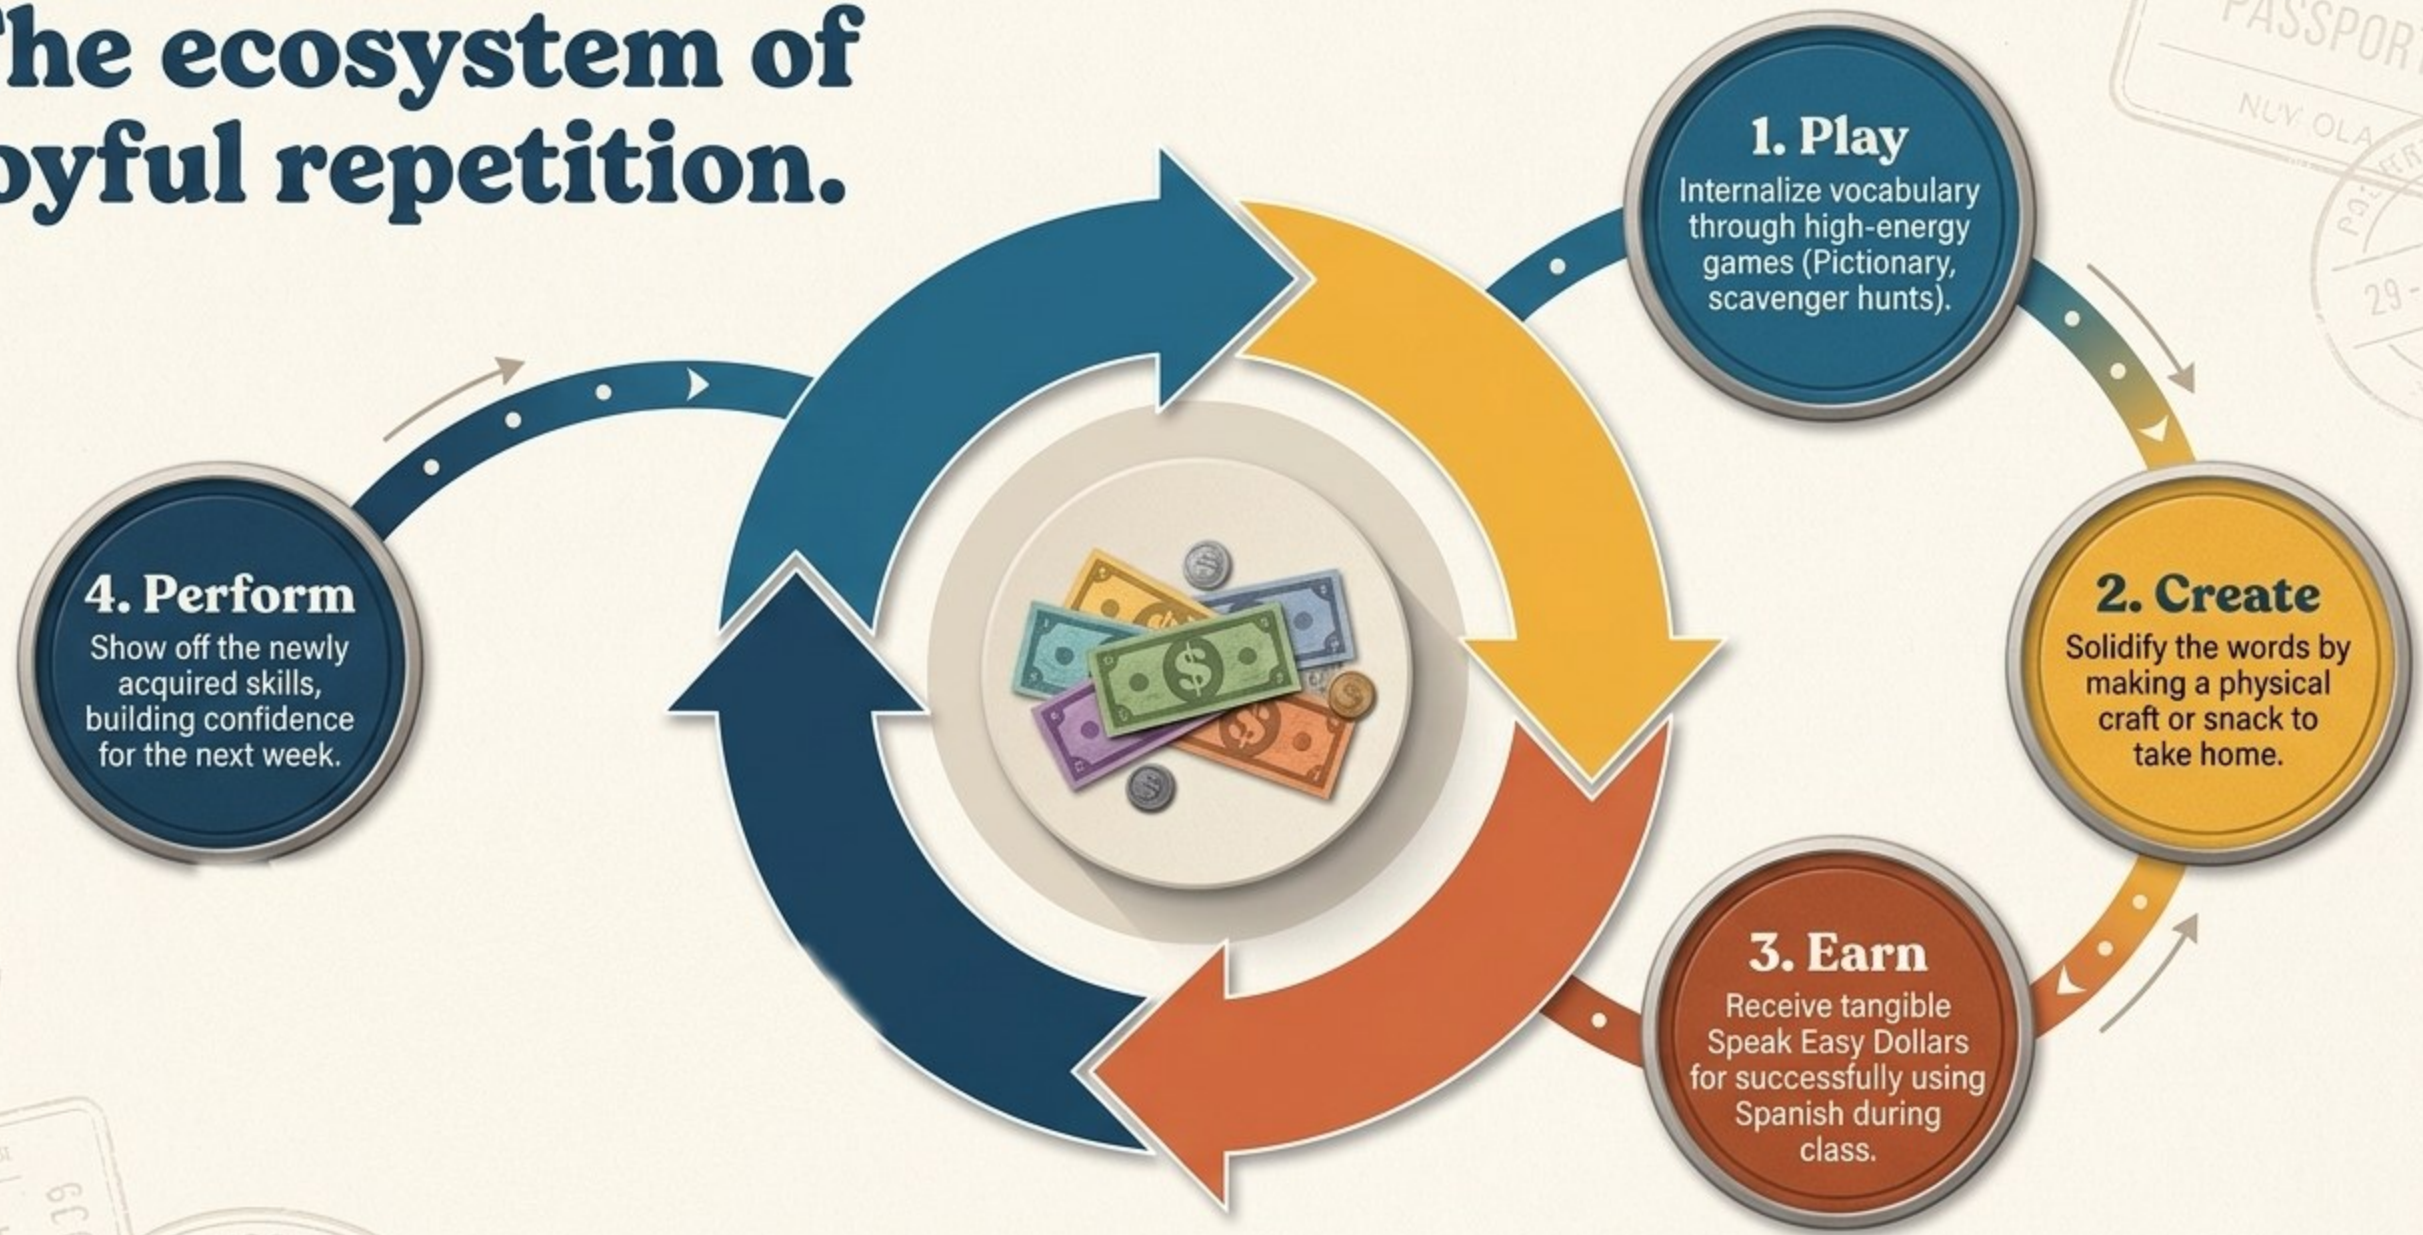

By week 2, kids introduce themselves in Spanish. By week 8, they perform for their families. No worksheets, ever.

Designed by a teacher. Not a tech bro.

Speak Easy Kids was built to model the afterschool culture clubs that actually work—redesigned around play, music, food, and games that kids actively want to come back to.

The ecosystem of joyful repetition.

Kids don't realize they are drilling vocabulary; they just know they are playing a game they want to win.

The anatomy of a 60-minute session.

Minutes 0–10: Greeting Circle

Hola. Cómo estás. Quick warm-up songs and check-ins.

Minutes 10–30: Theme + Game

Learning the week's words via charades, BINGO, or movement.

Minutes 30–50: Make Something

Craft, recipe card, or mini-skit. A tangible takeaway.

Minutes 50–60: Showcase & Send-Off

Stamp the passports, distribute Speak Easy Dollars, line up for next week.

Every week follows this exact rhythm. Kids know what to expect, but the themes always change.

Eight weeks. Eight reasons to come back.

Two audiences. One unified program.
